STRIKE CLOUDS A BIT DARKER WHEN BOTH SIDES FAIL TO MAKE ADVANCE

A SPEEDY ACTION A HOPE EXPRESSED IN SENATE AS TO THE LEAGUE PACT

GOVERNMENT IS FIRM IN INTENTION TO UPHOLD INJUNCTIONS.

GOMPERS MAKES STATEMENT

Hopes Begin to Vanish That the Coal Miners' Walkout Can Be Arbitrated When the Government and the Unions Are Set at Angles Once More.

By the Associated Press. Chicago, Nov. 5.—Confronted by the statements of the miners, and the operators that the country is for a long struggle, in the coal field, government circles are still apparently pervaded by an undercurrent of optimism regarding an early settlement. The indications are that the operators and miners are sparring for an opening which might lead to an amicable adjustment.

No Relenting, Stated.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The government cannot accept the proposal of organized labor and the coal strikers vacating the injunction against the officials of the United Mine Workers, Assistant Attorney General Ames, in the absence of Attorney General Palmer, announced today, because the strike is a violation of the law. The Ames statement says the strike is a violation of the law and as long as it continues we are going to proceed in the courts with the dispute between the mine owners and the workers. It is an entirely different question if they settle it in their own way. The government cannot tolerate a continued violation of the law such as the strike constitutes.

The government's refusal means a long fight in the courts and a withdrawal of the injunction would have opened a way to settlement within forty-eight hours, according to Edgar Wallace, legislative representative of the union.

Hopes Steel Put Out.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Official Washington was firm in the belief last night that the end of the coal strike was near. There was nothing definite to justify this hopeful view of the situation everywhere the feeling prevailed that influences were being brought to bear to have the strikers, numbering more than 400,000 to return to work.

Confidential reports to the department of justice from its agents in the coal fields were said to show many defections from the ranks of the strikers.

While it had been the government's first reported intention to let the strikers wear itself out, hope of settling it put all agencies to work and some direct steps were taken but their nature was not disclosed. The sweeping power of the federal court injunction in cutting off all strike benefits is relied on by the government to bring the strike to a speedy end.

Local representatives of the United Mine Workers of America were notified today that checks to cover the expenses for the last half of October could not be sent at this time because of the court's order.

Idleness of the miners with no funds available for their support makes it doubtful if they can hold out for any extended period, according to the view of men familiar with strike conditions. It is largely because of this fact that labor leaders themselves look for early peace in the industry. Three candidates for the department of labor are here from the coal fields in conference with officials of the department today and gave first hand information as to actual conditions.

Claim Injunction Wrong.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Withdrawal of the injunction obtained by the government will open the way for settlement of the coal strike, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a statement last night. Charging that the injunction was a grave wrong and gross blunder, Mr. Gompers said if it were vacated and miners and operators invited to further conference by the department of labor, he had "no shadow of a doubt" that a mutually agreeable adjustment could be negotiated and effected "whereby the coal strike can be brought to an end."

SENATOR GORE'S AMENDMENT IS UP TO THE BAR FOR DISCUSSION.

HOPE TO CLEAN UP SLATE

After Weeks and Weeks of Weary Wrangling and Dissension, Both the House and the Senate Are Trying to Get Down to Business and Get Through.

By the Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 5.—Hope for speedy action on the peace treaty brightened up again late yesterday when the senate voted down an amendment, agreed to dispose of two more today and renewed informal discussion of methods to hasten consideration of reservations.

Last night some of the optimistic predicted a vote on ratification by the end of the week, while the leaders on both sides thought it likely to come within ten days at the latest.

In the background, however, was the possibility of an eleventh hour rally by the treaty's enemies, who have in the meantime been busy in the Senate. The opportunity which might be presented to talk off a final roll call until the session of congress ends in December. Altogether the situation was doubtful, but Republican and Democratic managers seemed confident that it would soon clear.

The amendment disposed of was one by Republican Leader Lodge to strike from the treaty entirely the Shantung provision. The vote was 41 to 26, the proposal failing by the vote of virtually the same senators who several days ago defeated the committee amendment on that subject.

Today action was sought on the amendment of Senator Gore Democrat, Oklahoma, for a popular vote before any declaration of war, and later the proposal of Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, that the strike out of the treaty's labor provisions, will come up. These are the only amendments now remaining before the senate.

Part of yesterday's debate was on a motion by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, to strike out article ten of the League covenant, but he withdrew the proposal after suggestions had been advanced for changing the foreign relations committee reservations on the subject to meet his objections. One expedient suggested to insure prompt action which has been seriously considered by some senators is that the senate go into secret session in the hope that speeches will not be so numerous or so long if they are not given in public circulation.

The bout is conditional on Beckett winning his forthcoming fight with Georges Carpentier, the French champion.

The champion will receive $12,500. The fight is scheduled to go 20 rounds. Should Carpentier win the fight with Beckett, it was announced, a representative of Tortorich will be in London to match Dempsey with Carpentier instead of Beckett.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, came to Mobile to meet Tortorich in this city. The conference was very brief, it was stated, as Dempsey quickly assented to the condition and purse, following the agreement between Kearns and Tortorich.

SERVICE ON PEAK OF MOUNT BLANC IS BEAUTIFUL ONE

DEDICATION OF ALUMINUM STATUE IS HELD IN THE CLOUDS.

Berne, Nov. 5.—An unusual religious ceremony was performed recently in the shadow of Mont Blanc. The Abbe Coulin, accompanied by five Chamoni guides, carried to the top of Charlet Peak, an altitude of 12,240 feet, an aluminum statue four feet high and weighing thirty pounds. The summit of the peak was reached after a seven hour climb; the Chamoni guide is one of the most difficult peaks of the Mont Blanc range to ascend.

The Abbe blessed the statue after it was erected and pronounced a short oration. The statue is of the guide Charlet, after whom the peak is named, and who was the first to conquer it in 1878. Charlet is now 82 years of age.

The clergy men pointed out it was undesirable to permit funeral homes to operate on Sunday and observe the Sabbath as a day of rest.

STEAM FITTER AT ELECTIONS BRING DICE GAME WHILE OUT TRUE SPIRIT SOLDIERS FROZE OF AMERICANS IN IN THE BARRACKS THE WHOLE NATION

GRAVE REVELATIONS ARE BROUGHT OUT ABOUT CAMP SHERMAN.

NURSES WORKED IN FUR COATS

Investigating Group Has Made Some Startling Discoveries Which Will Lead To a Probe of Conditions in Other Camps Over the Country.

By the Associated Press. Camp Sherman, Ohio, Nov. 5.—Charges that willful negligence on the part of the steamfitters employed in the construction of the bare hospital at Camp Sherman resulted in the exposure for weeks to the zero weather prevalent in October and November, 1917, of sick soldiers confined there were among the disclosures made before the congressional subcommittee by Joseph Poole, Chillicothe contractor of this week.

The evidence given by Poole will be followed today to fix the responsibility for the suffering of the men, according to chairman John C. McKenzie and Chief Examiner Roscoe C. McCulloch of the committee. While sick soldiers were pinched and actually blue to their fingertips with the bitter cold, steamfitters supposedly equipping the hospital wards with steam heat were unblinking and warming themselves over their gasoline torches.

He asserted the weather was so cold the nurses wore their furs when they attended the sick and the doctors wore their sheepskin lined coats, while the patients had no heat whatsoever. Poole, who was employed by the A. Bentley & Son company of Toledo as a carpenter, characterized the attitude of the steamfitters as "disloyal" and as the "worst he had ever seen." Games of chance were worked among the men, the witness declared. Two or three days every week somebody would come around and have the men buy chances on automobiles, wrist watches and other things, he said.

"That was a graft worked by somebody," he declared. Other witnesses corroborating Poole's testimony as to the idling of the men and the wastage of material generally agreed that the work could have been done more satisfactorily and in quicker time by from two-thirds to one-half of the number of men on a given job. Taylor Thornburn, a Chillicothe laborer told the committee that his foreman told his gang to "hide in the cornfield" and that from eighteen to twenty of them spent from a week to ten days in the corn. He said he drew pay from the Y. M. C. A. and from the government for the same week and that he did not dare say anything about it "because they weren't allowed to."

"You might as well have some of the extra time the other men are getting," was the statement Jesse Brindley testified a foreman made to him. On the following pay day he said his pay envelope contained $1 extra. When he spoke of it the paymaster he declared the latter told him he "couldn't count." On another occasion he said there was $6 extra in his pay. He said he was hired to "watch gravel wagons" and that as a rule not more than "brer wags" were he was on a given day and sometimes he said there was only one. For this he said he was paid $51.60 weekly.

When the men could not get anything else to do they chiseled pieces of the floor, so they would have to cut and fit new pieces, according to H. D. Ferguson, Chillicothe carpenter. He told of a man spending three days at the pay window to collect 30 cents he was short in his pay, all the while drawing his regular pay of 60 cents an hour as a carpenter. Other witnesses related how men hired as carpenters were utilized to carry water.

That a collection was made to buy a manpiece for Major General E. F. Glenn's Chillicothe home was the statement made by Poole. He said he knew of about $1,200 that had been collected and that if the rest of the workmen had contributed proportionately a fund of from $5,000 to $6,000 must have been available. He declared that the men never heard anything more of the matter.

Concluding his testimony, the committee returned to Columbus and will go to Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., to institute a similar investigation.

By the Associated Press. Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Dr. Chas. Fremont Taylor, editor and publisher of the Medical World, died here today.

OHIO LINES UP IN THE DRY LIST AND MISSISSIPPI IS ONE-SIDED.

MASSACHUSETTS HAS BIG VOTE

Enthusiasm and Interest Marks Voting Except in Texas, Where it Was Light and Little Enthusiasm Manifested Itself During the Day.

By the Associated Press. Dallas, Nov. 5.—Two of the six constitutional amendments voted on in Texas, yesterday apparently were adopted, while returns available here at midnight showed the fate of two others in doubt, with the remaining two and a resolution proposing a constitutional convention probably defeated.

The amendment authorizing the city and county of Galveston to issue bonds of $5,000,000 for additions to harbor protective works and that increasing from five to seven cents on each $100 the tax levied for Confederate veterans' pensions were the two amendments with a slight favorable margin. The other four amendments proposed a $75,000,000 bond issue for hard surfacing roads, wharving by convict dependents in state prison profits, special town and county taxes for permanent improvements, and division of the state university and the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Unprecedented apathy marked the election, and in many precincts there was no balloting. In the city of Dallas the vote in some precincts was less than 10 per cent of formal registration. Other cities and towns reported similar disinterest, and in Tom Green county, not more than eight or ten of 21 boxes held elections.

The division of the state university and the agricultural college may have been approved by the late returns showing a slight majority for the move, it was said today.

Mississippi One-Sided.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 5.—The Mississippi Democratic ticket was elected in yesterday's general election by a plurality of approximately 50,000. The Socialist state candidates, which furnished the only opposition to the Democrats, polling less than 10,000 votes. Lee M. Russell, present lieutenant governor, was elected governor and H. H. Casteel, was chosen lieutenant governor. James T. Lester, grandson of former Governor Polk, was the Socialist nominee for governor. Additional returns served only to roll up the big majority by which the state offices were carried by the Democrats.

Coolidge Is Re-Elected.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Governor Calvin Coolidge, a republican, who made the support of law and order his sole issue in his campaign, was re-elected by a plurality of 124,000 votes, by the largest vote ever cast for governor in this state yesterday. Richard H. Long was the Democratic opponent. The Democrats gained four seats in the house of representatives and the Republicans gained three in the senate. A Democratic majority prevails in both houses.

Wilson Sends Congratulations.

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Wilson, from his sick bed, telegraphed Governor Coolidge, of Massachusetts, congratulations upon your election as victor for law and order. When that is the issue all Americans stand together."

Moore Is Mayor.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Congressman J. Hampton Moore was elected mayor by one of the largest republican pluralities ever given for mayor here yesterday.

Rolfe Wins Out.

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—James Rolfe Jr. was reelected mayor yesterday, defeating Eugene Schmitz, the former mayor.

Virginia Is Quiet.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 5.—The election returns here showed slight republican gains in the general assembly. There is nothing indicating any change or overwhelming majority.

Ohio Stays Dry.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Ohio voters to remain in the dry column by a majority three times as large as it was in 1917. The prohibition amendment was defeated by a vote of 100,000 to 40,000.

THE ANGLO-PERSIA TREATY IS NOW BROUGHT TO LIGHT BY A DIPLOMAT WHO HAS STUDIED THE SITUATIONS

London, Nov. 5.—Sir Valentine Chirol, the well-known authority on India and Persia, who accompanied Viscount Curzon when he was Viceroy of India in his tour of Persia, is out in an article strongly upholding the Anglo-Persian treaty recently negotiated, and declaring that it will be submitted to the council of the League of Nations, where he confidently believes it will be approved as "the first milestone in international relationship based not upon might but upon right." Sir Valentine says in part:

"The agreement signed on 9th of August between the British and Persian governments is the first important international treaty—outside of those concluded between actual belligerents—since the armistice of November last laid out the promise of returning peace to a shattered and exhausted world. The promise, remains still very largely unfulfilled but the treaty of Versailles has at least laid down in the covenant of the League of Nations the lines upon which it may reasonably be hoped, its fulfillment may ultimately be completed, and made as permanently secure as can be expected from the inherent frailty of all human combinations."

"The first question therefore to be asked by those who study the terms of the new Anglo-Persian Agreement, and especially by such as are not directly interested in the concrete questions which have endeavored to solve, must necessarily be whether the spirit and substance of this compact is in harmony with the new dispensation overshadowed by the League of Nations. Its authors are confident that it is, and have given the strongest proof possible of their sincerity by undertaking to submit it to the council of the League of Nations and to defend it fully before that body as the council comes into effective existence after the ratification of the Versailles Treaty."

"If the Anglo-Persian Agreement can stand that decisive test, it will be the first and a very conspicuous milestone on the road along which the world may hope to travel towards the establishment of a system of international relationship based not upon might, but upon right."

"Referring to Persia's attitude in the recent war, he says:

"There were moments when the Persian Court and government convinced that Germany must win, nearly succumbed to hostile solicitations. But at that stage the propinquity of Russian armies and the capture of Baghdad by the British were powerful correctives to the tale of Germanic victories on the more distant battlefields of Europe. When the Russian debacle released Persia from the old nightmare of Russian domination, and the British troops and British supplies stood between the people of Western Persia and the depredations of Turkish invaders had already spent starvation and untold sufferings, the statesmanship of the more enlightened and far-seeing Persians such as the present Prime Minister, Vozuked-Dowleh, finally prevailed, and Persia, having learned the bitter lesson of her own utter helplessness, realized once more that her starvation lay in British hands."

"So when the great war came to an end and Turkey as well as her European allies had to sue for peace in Persia, whilst the old dread of autocratic Russia had made room for the new terror of Russian Bolshevism, Britain was in a position to dictate practically any terms she liked in Teheran. She could have imposed a protectorate, veiled or unveiled, and was expected by many Persians with uneasy consciences over certain incidents such as the prostration of the Persian delegation to Great-Britain, even before the triumphant Allied fleet of Germany."

"She could have certainly made out a strong case in Paris for the exercise of a benevolent tutelage over Persia under a mandate from the League of Nations. She wisely refrained from doing any of these things, in Lord Curzon's words, 'she dealt with Persia as an equal partner possessing and enjoying her own sovereignty.'"

"The Persians know today as never before that they cannot work out their own regeneration unaided. Their finances are bankrupt. They have no organized force capable of maintaining external security or internal order. The natural resources of the country, potentially not innumerable, are as undeveloped as its primitive methods of trade and industry. Equalization of its means of communication, it has no railways, scarcely any roads worth speaking of, only one barely navigable river, the Karun, and no harbors but open roadsteads."

"The new Anglo-Persian Agreement lays down the nature and extent of British assistance rendered and asked for by Persia to start putting her house in order. The British government agrees to supply in consultation with the Persian government, expert advisers for the several departments of the Persian administration, and, after inquiry by a joint commission of military experts, the officers, arms, military equipment wanted for the formation of a uniform force to establish and preserve order in the country and at its frontiers."

"To finance the above reforms the British government offers to provide or arrange a substantial loan to the Persian government on security to be determined by mutual consultation and to supply means with a recognized such funds as may be necessary to initiate them. In the economic sphere the British government declares its readiness to co-operate with the Persian government in the promotion of railway construction and other forms of transport, and agrees to the appointment forthwith of a joint committee of experts for the examination and revision of the existing customs tariff."

AID FOR THE RED CROSS COMING IN VERY FINE SHAPE

COUNTY RESPONDS TO CALL
IZATION.

Dallas, Nov. 5.—The Third Red Cross Roll Call has opened for the purpose of securing members to the Red Cross for 1920. On Sunday, November the second, Red Cross Sunday was observed in churches throughout the country and until Armistice Day on November 11, the campaign for memberships will be conducted.

From practically every chapter of the Southwestern Division has come evidence of its enthusiastic support of the Third Red Cross Roll Call. Even where sacrifice is involved the people are eager to continue in the support of an organization which serves in peace as in war.

A letter from one chapter which is characteristic of the Red Cross spirit of service and sacrifice reads in part as follows:

"Last year our farmers did not make a pound of corn or other grain for feed, and only a scant cotton crop. This year we have the finest crop prospects I have ever seen in any country. In fact, corn and other food was made and about ready to gather when the most unexpected thing happened. The grain on the ears of corn, on the heads of milo, maize and kafir corn, and everything else sprouted in the field from too much rain and warm weather, causing a loss of at least 75 percent. On September 11th the tropical storm finished the cotton crop, the boll weevil having turned the principal part of what we had before the storm. Our cotton ginnings amounted to only 1,600 bales in the county. Every windmill was blown down, houses blown from the blocks, fences and small buildings smashed to such an extent that we estimate the loss from the storm to this county amounts to a half million dollars."

"Notwithstanding this we divided our surplus with Corpus Christi at a time when we were cut off ourselves. We sent them 3,800 loaves of bread, 4,000 pounds of clothing, all the tea we had, a car of fresh drinking water and $1,700 in actual cash."

"What is more we cancelled our space for a county exhibit at the state fair of Texas. We called off our county fair and our district fair. We asked the Salvation Army to relieve us at this time from a campaign, but we are not going to make this request of the Red Cross. The Red Cross is the

"Friendly Enemies," the famous international comedy success which is being presented at the Grand Theatre on Monday for an engagement of one evening, not only received a glowing endorsement from President Wilson, which was published throughout the English speaking world and from the press and public of three continents, but from other notable men who have gone out of their way to lead their approval to this magnificent American comedy. Supplementing the endorsement bestowed upon "Friendly Enemies" by President Wilson in Washington, Admiral William C. Branstetter, surgeon general of the United States navy, said: "This is, indeed, a great play. Take the lesson it teaches home to ourselves and you will feel better for having seen it. Every man, woman and child in America should see it." William Churchill, director of the division of foreign language publications of the State department said: "Friendly Enemies" is a comedy which should be seen by all Americans. It is the picture of the deep loyalty of those German-Americans to the land of their own, and their fathers' adoption and it will glorify the republic and that loyalty to the rest of us it will prove of the utmost value in teaching that the German-Americans are ready to bear the hyphen from the name; that no longer will they remain apart in race consciousness; that citizens of American ancestry are with us all American citizens to secure the rights of humanity in freedom of life thought."

drilling in here during the forenoon. Indicated that the election is still a nip and tuck race and chances are increasing that an official canvass will be necessary to determine the result.

Albert Ritchie, a democrat, was elected over Harry Nico, the republican, as governor yesterday.

Kentucky Goes Republican. Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5.—With ten counties missing, Kentucky gave Edwin P. Morrow, the Republican candidate, a 24,000 majority over Governor James D. Black, the Democrat, for governor, and the returns indicate that the state-wide prohibition amendment was defeated by a 15,000 majority.

Twenty-two counties favored the amendment and eight were against it. Louisville went 22,000 against the amendment.

The amendment providing for the removal of police officers who fail to protect prisoners from mob violence was defeated. The Republicans elected 53 of 100 representatives.

Five Governors Elected. New York, Nov. 5.— gubernatorial elections were held in only five states yesterday—Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi and New Jersey.

Prohibition occupied the center of the stage in Ohio. In that state, voters voted on two referendums and two amendments—the former relating to legislative amendments and the prohibition enforcement act passed by the last legislature and the latter to a definition of 2.75 as unintoxicating liquor and repeal of the constitutional prohibition.

Kentucky also voted on statewide prohibition and in common with Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Virginia, elected members to both branches of the state legislature. The chief duty before New York was election of assemblymen and supreme court justices.

Constitutional questions came up in Illinois, Nebraska and Texas. Illinois and Nebraska elected delegates to constitutional conventions while Texas passed on a call for a similar convention and six constitutional amendments. There were no elections in the far West.

Roosevelt Is Elected. New York, Nov. 5.—Returns from the legislative election in New York state up to midnight last night showed no change in the political complexion of the assembly. The Democrats gained three seats in that body of the legislature.

Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt began his political career, as did his father, by being elected to the assembly. He was a candidate in the second district of Nassau county and was opposed by Elias Haff, a private in the American expeditionary forces.

Tammany Hall apparently went down to defeat. All three of its candidates for the supreme bench seemed to have lost. With returns lacking from 223 districts out of 248 in the first judicial district, which includes the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, Justice Joseph Newburger, who was denied a renomination by the Democrats and then placed in the field by the Republicans, had 125,713 votes, while Irwin Untermyer, son of Samuel Untermyer, his opponent, had 83,071.

Major Philip J. McCook, the other anti-Tammany candidate, had 107,326, and Justice Robert L. Luce 94,193. In the second judicial district, which includes the boroughs of Brooklyn and Richmond, with 204 districts lacking out of 254, A. L. Squire, Republican, had 124,564, and Eugene J. S. Dowling, Democrat, 110,321.

Moran Is Defeated. Indications were Robert L. Moran, Tammany candidate for president of the board of aldermen, the only office for which the entire city voted had been defeated by Representative P. H. LaGuardia, his Republican opponent, by a narrow margin.

The demands conceded that one factor in the judicial election was the assault by William Randolph Hearst upon Governor Smith and the Tammany candidates.

Complete Returns. The complete returns on the vote of the president of the board of aldermen showed that Representative LaGuardia, the Republican, defeated Robert L. Moran, the Democratic incumbent. On official count has been taken in Manhattan.

Maryland Is Slow. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5.—Returns to date show a nip and tuck race between Governor Harry H. Harman, the Republican, and Governor William D. Swann, the Democrat.

License Revoked From Bad Dealer. Washington, Nov. 5.—The United States wheat director announces today that he has revoked until further notice, effective October 25th, 1919, the license granted to the Farmers Elevator association of Mount Ridge, Searles, an elevator operator and warehouseman.

Complaint was made that the company was not paying a fair reflection of the guaranteed price to producers, also that the company failed to answer communications addressed to it, and further failed to appear when summoned to give explanation at a hearing before Mr. D. F. Plazek, secretary of the United States Grain corporation at Kansas City, Mo.—although the summons was duly received and signed for by an authorized agent of the company on October 27th.

Calld Meeting of Merchants.—A special meeting of the Merchants Association has been called to tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the observance of November 11, Armistice Day, as a legal holiday.

The meeting was called upon the request of Mayor A. M. Finley, who desires to learn the position of the merchants before proclaiming the day a legal holiday, in line with the proclamation issued by Governor W. F. Hobby.

Farmers Meet.—About twenty farmers met this morning at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of developing ways and means of disposing of the surplus supply of sweet potatoes in this county. It was learned that about 2,000 bushels of the potatoes are available among the twenty farmers, and telegrams were sent to two places in the state, quoting a sale price of $2 a bushel. It is hoped that these may be sold in this manner, or some other method will have to be adopted.

Roads Are Good. "So if your mother wants to go up in an airplane or down in a submarine, when she is eighty and you are forty-five, take her by all means; and if your daughter wishes to be the pilot, let her be it, and be proud of both of them. Not so daring as the one, not so feeble as the other, you have in a way the powers of both with the weaknesses of neither. Wiser than one, stronger than the other, you face the most valuable part of your life; let no one tell you that there is any limit to what you may do in it."

COTTON CROP NOT EAST EUROPE HAS UP TO STANDARDS MUCH TO FACE IN DURING THIS YEAR THE NEXT DECADE

FORTY PER CENT PRODUCED BY GOVERNMENT RECORDS.

Houston, Nov. 5.—Torrential rains and summer temperatures in October, have materially reduced the condition of the Texas cotton crop. Since date of last report, September 25, 1919, the condition now being 46 percent of a normal compared with 52 last month. Excessive and almost continuous rains fell over a greater part of the cotton growing area of the state, especially over the eastern half, where the condition had already been much reduced, because of insect ravages. These rains were particularly heavy in the center and north districts, causing streams to inundate lands, cotton to sprout in the fields and open cotton to be beaten from the plant and to decay upon the ground.

In the west, half of the state, however, composed mostly of the west center and northwest districts, where the condition last month was within 15 percent of a normal, a condition of almost normal, has now been attained, despite the rains, which have affected these districts also, but only to the extent of damaging or lowering the grades of the staple. The gain in condition being attributable to untimely growth, freedom from insect invasions and intensity of frost, which had not as yet affected any part of the Texas cotton crop.

Picking over the entire state had been very much delayed by the continuous rains.

The estimate above has been made in consequence of the following resolution passed by congress:

"Resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that the secretary of agriculture is hereby authorized and directed to prepare and publish not later than November 1, 1919, a supplemental estimate of the cotton crop as of date of October 25, 1919."

Inasmuch as similar reports have not been made regularly in the past, no comparison of the condition on October 25 this year can be made with condition on same date in past years, and can afford no basis of a forecast of production.

Paris, Nov. 5.—An intimate view of conditions in Eastern Europe is given by an American official just back from a tour through Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria and later a visit to the Hungarian capital at Budapest. He says:

"It seems inevitable that changes must occur in the governments of all these new states of Europe. None of them is stable. Everywhere is the intrigue and struggle for power and place on the part of cliques and individuals and beneath is the unrest and discontent of the masses. National independence has not brought Utopia and constitutions do not furnish bread. In Poland a strong opposition to the government has developed. Besides this Poland will suffer from acute hunger this winter. Her people are supporting an army out of all proportion to the population to guard her frontiers and any incident may bring a clash with the Czechs or Germans. The Teschen question is acute and both countries are aflame. I doubt if a plebiscite will settle it satisfactorily or permanently."

"In Czechoslovakia there is strong opposition to the present government, which lacks strength in its personnel. The danger there lies, however, more in the growing jealousy of the Slovaks. They have been thoroughly subordinated and resent the arrogant attitude of the Bohemians proper. Again, the drastic anti-German policy of the government is a source of danger. Czechoslovakia, like a physical disease is better off than any other country over here. She has ample food and fuel and is thus in a commanding position. Her industries can produce with little outside help. With a strong government that country should thrive and prosper. Her danger seems to lie in probable racial antagonism with resulting political confusion."

"As for Hungary, a few people here believe it will survive as an independent country. Evident union with Rumania now seems inevitable, either with its own king as vassal, or simply as part of the empire."

"The Rumanians were quick to see the possibilities of the Allies and simply disregarded the communal relations from Paris. The so-called Inter-Allied military commission, backed by anything real, is a force. The other day a letter was sent to the Rumanian commander by this mission, written in English, and he handed it back with the remark to communicate with him in a language understood by civilized people."

"Another Rumanian personage remarked that the Paris Conference had sent them a very impolite note to which they were forced to reply in kind. Those are more illustrative of the conditions there."

"Hungary will starve this winter. It is beginning to starve now. The Rumanians have stripped it utterly from seed wheat to the printing press. They control and censor the mails and wires and are in fact and deed conquerors."

"Among men with whom I talked in

HENRY L. DOHERTY

One of America's biggest business geniuses is Henry L. Doherty. The day President Garfield was assassinated he made $5.43 selling extras. Today he is president of the Cities Service company, a $200,000,000 corporation controlling 200 gas and electric companies in nearly every state in the United States.

Budapest, there is conviction that if Hungary survives it will be only under a monarchy. The peasantry want a king and the old reactionary crowd is powerful, acute and busy. The great landowners are still the great power and with the Church, form a powerful organization. Recently one of the great dignitaries of the church preached the Inter-Allied mission with a proposal to place the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha on the throne of Hungary. In fact, there are any number of royal candidates in the offering waiting to see what will happen.

"As for Austria, every province and every district is a separate government by itself, acting independently and often in defiance of the Vienna Government, which is actually controlled as far as any control goes, by these workmen and soldiers' councils. Neither the Christian Socialists nor the Social Democrats have a majority in the Assembly so that the All German party with its membership of about 30 has the balance of power and throws its vote to suit its own ends. There must be a terrible suffering this winter. The country will be practically without fuel, and it is a rigorous winter climate. Food already is scarce and poor and daily increases in price. The hospitals are without supplies, the death rate is high, and the streets literally filled with begging men and women and children. Highway robbery is prevalent, smuggling rampant and there are signs of revolution unless conditions quickly mend."

"There, too, the body of the people seem to want a monarchy. They have had enough of Republicanism. Well-informed people say a coup d'etat is not impossible. It would not take much to place a king back if he were a strong man with quality of leadership. In any event, the reactionary element is strong and growing stronger in the absence of leadership. In the present government."

"The Austrians are hopeless regarding their future and see only a union with Italy or Czechoslovakia if they are to survive. The country is bankrupt, stripped of its resources by the peace settlement and the people are too worn out to fight. In spite of the treaty there is a feeling that some way will be tried to bring about the union with Germany."

America's Marble Caves.
Do you know we have marble caves in America? We have. Amid the wilds of Southwestern Oregon, almost unknown to the world at large, is situated a series of underground chambers and passages remarkable for their size and for the beauty and unusual character of their decorations. Within the last few years they have been made a national monument, and are known as the Marble Caves of Oregon. The caves consist of three miles and a half of marble passages and grottoes, ranging from one story to four or five stories in height. In places the connecting corridors are so low that one must crawl on all fours for a considerable distance. Elsewhere the chambers are so large that the opposite walls and ceilings are scarcely visible in the dim candlelight. The largest cavern measures more than 500 feet high. Ladies' Home Journal.

GLOOMY FORECAST GIVEN FOR TEXAS IN LATE REPORTS

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK GIVES LIGHT ON SITUATION.

Dallas, Nov. 5.—While predicting unprecedented fall trading activity in this district, the monthly statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, made public tonight, declares the cotton yield in Texas "will be even more disappointing than previously forecast."

The report, which is prepared under direction of W. F. Ramsey, the federal reserve agent, concludes, however, that there "seems no ground for pessimism with respect to conditions in the district as a whole."

"In many cases cash sales during the fall and early winter months are expected to exceed previous records," the statement says. "While showing the unfavorable effect of the lateness of the cotton crops, collections are generally reported as proceeding at a satisfactory rate."

Referring to the cotton situation, the report declares "adverse weather conditions which have prevailed in the district for the past thirty days have made for a further deterioration in crops, especially cotton, and in Texas at any rate, the yield of the staple will be even more disappointing than predicted in earlier letters. It is difficult to approximate the extent of the shortage. The resultant loss to growers, although partially offset by the rising market, will unquestionably necessitate some revision as to the extent of fall liquidations."

"Protracted rains," the report continues, "while doing great damage from an agricultural standpoint, are of incalculable benefit to the livestock interests; the district apparently is free from labor discord, as obtains in many cities in the north and east, and there is a line of prosperity in the reports at hand."

The report says "it is freely predicted that the yield of cotton in Texas will not exceed 2,500,000 bales, while the wheat crop for this year is estimated to be 25,000,000 bushels in excess of that of 1918. Shipments have been hindered by acute car shortage, but it is thought the bulk of the crop will be moved within the next thirty days."

Bankers in the district declare the demand for money continues active, and deposits of members banks "show a steady growth, as reflected in their reserve balances here, which on October 23rd were $1,776,698, compared with $43,587,706 on September 23rd. Bank clearings in Austin, Beaumont, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, Shreveport and Vaco, for September, 1919, were $20,276,977, compared with $152,944,480 in September, 1918, an increase of 19.1 percent."

"Building activities as reported in our last letter continue unabated," the report continues. "Construction work is still severely handicapped by the shortage of labor, and some interruption from strikes and labor disturbances have been reported. Exports of cotton are moving thru Galveston in increasing volume, and despite the congested wharves, naturally to be expected at this season, the movement is, on the whole, considered satisfactory. The export of wheat from Galveston shows the effect of shortage in both rail and marine transportation. Exports of various commodities to Mexico are in increasing volume and from Germany especially the service continues without interruption. Exports valued at $38,010,999 moved from Galveston in August as compared with $15,943,274 in July and $35,208,550 in June."

"Recent rains in West Texas have placed the ranges in excellent condition. Both grass and feed-cuts are reported as plentiful and stockmen are well prepared for the winter. Breeding herds, however, are greatly depleted, and unless the breeders are able to obtain needed financial assistance, further sacrifices of herds are inevitable."

"The demand for lumber is diminishing, as is usual at this period of the year. In the retail trade prices are reported stationary, and in the wholesale, falling. Labor and transportation facilities, always the principal problems confronting the two most promising industries of the eleventh district—manufacturing and mining—present increased difficulties to the existing abnormal situation."

"There have been no material changes in the oil situation during the past thirty days. Such slight falling off in the production as is reported from certain sections of the Ranger field has been more than offset by increases elsewhere, including production from new wells in recent extensions of the proven field. Prices remain stationary."

"An exceptionally heavy volume of sales is reported in all lines of retail trade and the call for high priced merchandise shows no sign of diminishing. Wholesale houses throughout the district report a continuance of an almost unprecedented volume of fall trade, many complaining of inability to maintain stocks to supply the demand."

Products That the "Big Five" Packers Sell!

Their Number a Serious Menace.

The Federal Trade Commission has published a list of some 640 articles which are "Produced or Distributed by the Big Five Packers."

One of the Big Five publicly states that this list is erroneous. WHICH IS RIGHT, THE MEAT PACKER, OR THE GOVERNMENT?

1. The Packer says: "Simmered Down," he handles, in addition to Meats and Meat By-Products, only Butter, Eggs, Cheese, Poultry, Canned Goods, Lard Substitutes, Dried and Salt Fish, but Not Enough! There are dozens of Meats, Hundreds of By-Products, Scores of Different Canned Goods—Vegetables, Milk, Salmon, Fruits, etc.
2. The Packer does not mention Hides and Leather, Rice, Cereals, Dried Fruits—Raisins and Prunes—Condiments and Spices, Drugs and Chemicals, Fertilizers, Peanut Oil, Salad Dressing, Ketchup, Beverages. WHY NOT TELL THE WHOLE TRUTH?
3. Even when you make the Deductions Claimed by the Packer in his Advertisement, you still have 535 articles as listed by the Government. Do you want Five Companies, which have in the Past been proved to work in collusion, to get Control of over 500 different Important Products? Or even 100?

This Control Concerns your FOOD and SHOES. Can we afford to allow unregulated control over the price of livestock, the chief foods, and the material for shoes?

Don't be fooled by such misleading statements as are put out by the "Big Five" Meat Packers.

All but the non-union miners reported out on a strike. Attorney-General Palmer called for reports giving statistics.

When One Frock Serves for Two

The present styles in afternoon gowns play into the hands of many women who have learned to make one frock serve for both afternoon and evening. They managed very well in this same matter during the war, when evening dress was taboo, and now Paris has dealt the cards so that the same becomes easy. There is a vogue for bare arms, or very abbreviated sleeves, on French gowns, that is reflected here. In short sleeves made of the sheerest fabrics that merely veil the arms. It doesn't take much maneuvering on the part of a clever woman to place an afternoon frock of this kind in the class of evening gown. The addition of the right accessory—the removal of a gulupe, the arrangement of the collar—and the trick is turned.
An alluring frock for afternoon has been presented by a famous Fifth avenue house and is shown at the right of the picture above. It is made of cream-colored net and embroidered in little beads in pale rose color. The skirt is very cleverly draped and there is a flat ribbon girde about the waistline. One can imagine it with a more brilliant girde, evening slippers and a high collar, more than holding its own when compared with regulation evening gowns.

Not wide lace make the simpler frock at the left, with four straight panels of plaited net set in the overdress. It is worn over a satin slip and has a satin girde. The bodice is very full, cut low at the throat, and worn with a dainty vestee of narrow lace and net. The very plain sleeves are a little longer than elbow length but can be gathered up in small plaits and shortened for evening. This, and a girde of bright ribbon, fastened with one of the big rhinestone buckles will place this frock in the evening class. Or a broadcird girde or one of cloth of silver will accomplish this matter.

Julius B. Morley

The coal famine began to impress itself as a grim reality upon the country. Industry feeling the pinchers of non-production.
James Woods Green, dean of the Kansas University Law School, died at his home in Lawrence, following a short illness.
Communist provided at Natrona, Penn., for the strikers from the steel mills there who are needy.
Supreme council decided that picket lines of people choosing their political affiliations in Europe to be held on November 10.
Spain tried every possible means of stopping the general lockout proclaimed by employers.
Street rioting occurred at Youngstown, Ohio, to prevent men returning to work in the steel mills.
Elections in many states held to decide upon governors and settle other questions. Women voting made it impossible to forecast even general reports.
Bolshevik forces announced that they had surrounded General Yudenich's forces near Petrograd.
Christian unions barred by Bolsheviks as being unnecessary.
Profiteers who overcharged for sugar and were facing indictment for their misdeeds refunded $1,200 at Chicago.
Coal dealers took stand against the price fixing plan of the government. Cleveland announced to be drifting rapidly towards bankruptcy.
Speedy marked the trial of whites and negroes at Holman, Ark., claiming the race rioting recently, as being found guilty of murder in the first degree at the end of the second day.
England took a stand with Italy on the Italian question and France made plain her intention of acting cautiously.
Cabinet meetings called for the day responded because of absence of members.

bers attending elections.
The American railway corps was ordered from Siberia.
Government made announcement that efforts would be made to settle the coal miners' strike within a few days. Federal court hearings to begin on Saturday.

SACCHARIN NOT A SAFE SUBSTITUTE FOR SUGAR, SAID

GOVERNMENT MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT OF DIRE RESULTS KNOWN.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—The use of saccharin in the place of sugar, which many housewives are being tempted to resort to in these days of sugar shortage, may involve menace to the health, and therefore is to be condemned, according to specialists, in the bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. In most cases housewives have turned to this substance in their emergency, because they do not understand that saccharin is a harmful drug, to consider it a harmless substitute for sugar is absolutely false, say the government's chemists.

The Department of Agriculture has received a number of inquiries from housewives in the last few days concerning the properties of saccharin, and in every case it has answered by condemning the use of the drug for cooking purposes. It calls attention to the fact that the Bureau of Chemistry is now adding the prosecution of a large St. Louis concern which makes saccharin for violation of the Food and Drug Act.

"The attempt to exploit the shortage of sugar and create a demand for saccharin for use in the place of sugar, and to capitalize the public's lack of knowledge of the properties of this substance and the Bureau of Chemistry to cause them to resort to the warnings which it has given repeatedly in its publications," said Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the Bureau, who cites his testimony before a subcommittee of the Senate's Committee on Agriculture a few days ago, on this same subject, as showing the extent of the present menace due to the public's not being properly informed.

"The Department regards the use of saccharin in food as a menace to health," says Dr. Alsberg. "This is the position of the Department today as it was in 1911, when official decisions were rendered. There has been no scientific evidence adduced on the basis of which the department would be justified in any manner in altering its position."

"The department regards food to which saccharin has been added as adulterated, since a substance has been added to the food which may render it deleterious to health. It also regards it as adulterated in that a substance of no food value whatever has been substituted for sugar, a very valuable food. The department has now pending a criminal prosecution against one concern for the shipment interstate of a parcel of saccharin labeled as harmless. Furthermore a majority of the States prohibit the use of saccharin in food, either by statute or by regulation."

"After taking Granger Liver Regulator I am in better health than I have been in about 14 years and weigh more than I ever did. My wife was also in a very run down state of health, being unable to sleep or eat. She had been taking medicine that her doctor prescribed regularly, but received very little benefit from them. Later she tried your medicine, which did her so much good that her health is better than it has been in a long time. She can now sleep well, and eats anything that she wants."

MARSHALL POST AMERICAN LEGION ELECTS OFFICERS

ADOPTS RESOLUTION FOR A LEGAL HOLIDAY ON NOVEMBER 11.

One of the most enthusiastic meetings of the Marshall Post of the American Legion was held last night in the city hall auditorium, when the organization of the Legion was perfected, officers were elected, and a delegate to the national convention in Minneapolis, Minnesota, on November 11, was chosen.

The meeting, which was presided over by Nathan D. Goldberg, temporary chairman, was largely attended, and was one of spirited activity, due to the necessary requirements for placing the organization on a permanent basis. The constitution and by-laws, which were adopted at a previous meeting, were read last night for the benefit of many who had not attended a meeting before, and the covenant was signed by all present as charter members. It is necessary that the constitution, signed by the charter members, be sent to state headquarters in order to secure a charter, but it was voted at the last meeting to hold the constitution until Armistice Day that as many as possible be given an opportunity to sign it. It will be found with it, H. Ramsey, post finance officer, at the Marshall National Bank, during banking hours, and at the Matthews Drug company at any other time. All ex-service men who have not yet done so are urged to call and sign the constitution before November 11, if they desire to be charter members. All ex-service men who wish to become members of the post are requested to pay their dues to Mr. Ramsey. The membership dues total $1.50 a year, $1 of this amount remaining with the post, while 25 cents is the state or organization assessment and 25 cents for the national organization.

The following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year: Dr. G. P. Rainey, post commander; Ruelle C. Hargrave, vice post commander; Nathan D. Goldberg, post adjutant; H. H. (Pat) Ramsey, post finance officer; Louie Kariel, post historian; The selection of a post chaplain was deferred until the next meeting, which will be held on the first Tuesday night in December, for the purpose of securing further information regarding his qualifications and duties.

Hon. Myron G. Blacklock was elected delegate, and Nathan D. Goldberg alternate, to the national convention to be held in Minneapolis on Armistice Day. The post is at present without funds, and it was voted to solicit funds to defray the expenses of the delegate. It is thought that about $200 will be required for this, and it is hoped that some of the generous and patriotic citizens will contribute toward this end. The presence at the national meeting of a delegate from the local post will mean much to the organization, and the assistance of the citizens will be very much appreciated.

A resolution requesting the city commissioners to declare November 11, Armistice Day, a legal holiday, in line with the proclamation issued by Governor W. P. Hobby, was unanimously adopted by the post, and a committee was appointed to personally convey this resolution to the officials. Feeling that this day will be marked as the greatest day in history, the members of the post think it worthy of observance and heartily endorse the Armistice Day program arranged by the Red Cross executive board, which will be held at the city hall on the night of November 11.

The legion also voted to render all assistance possible to the Red Cross, both in the present campaign and at all other times, and the members pledged to see that all ex-service men subscribed to the third Red Cross Roll Call.

The meetings of Marshall Post will be held on the first Tuesday night in each month.

Some Burmese Ideas.

If the Burmese husband and wife come to the conclusion that they are not suited to each other their procedure of divorce is simple and direct. The wife does not go to her lawyer but to the talloo-chandler. From him she obtains two little candles. These she brings home, and she and her husband sit down on the floor, placing the candles between them. One candle represents the husband. The other the wife. They are lighted at the same moment and the owner of the one which goes out first, leaves the house, taking only his or her clothes, while the owner of the more enduring candle remains also the owner of the house and all that it contains.
